The fishmeal industry started 2025 positively thanks to a sharp increase in production

"According to data from IFCO, global fishmeal production in January 2025 increased by 75% compared to the same period last year, mainly thanks to an impressive 300% surge from Peru. Countries such as Chile, the United States, Spain, and several African nations also recorded significant increases

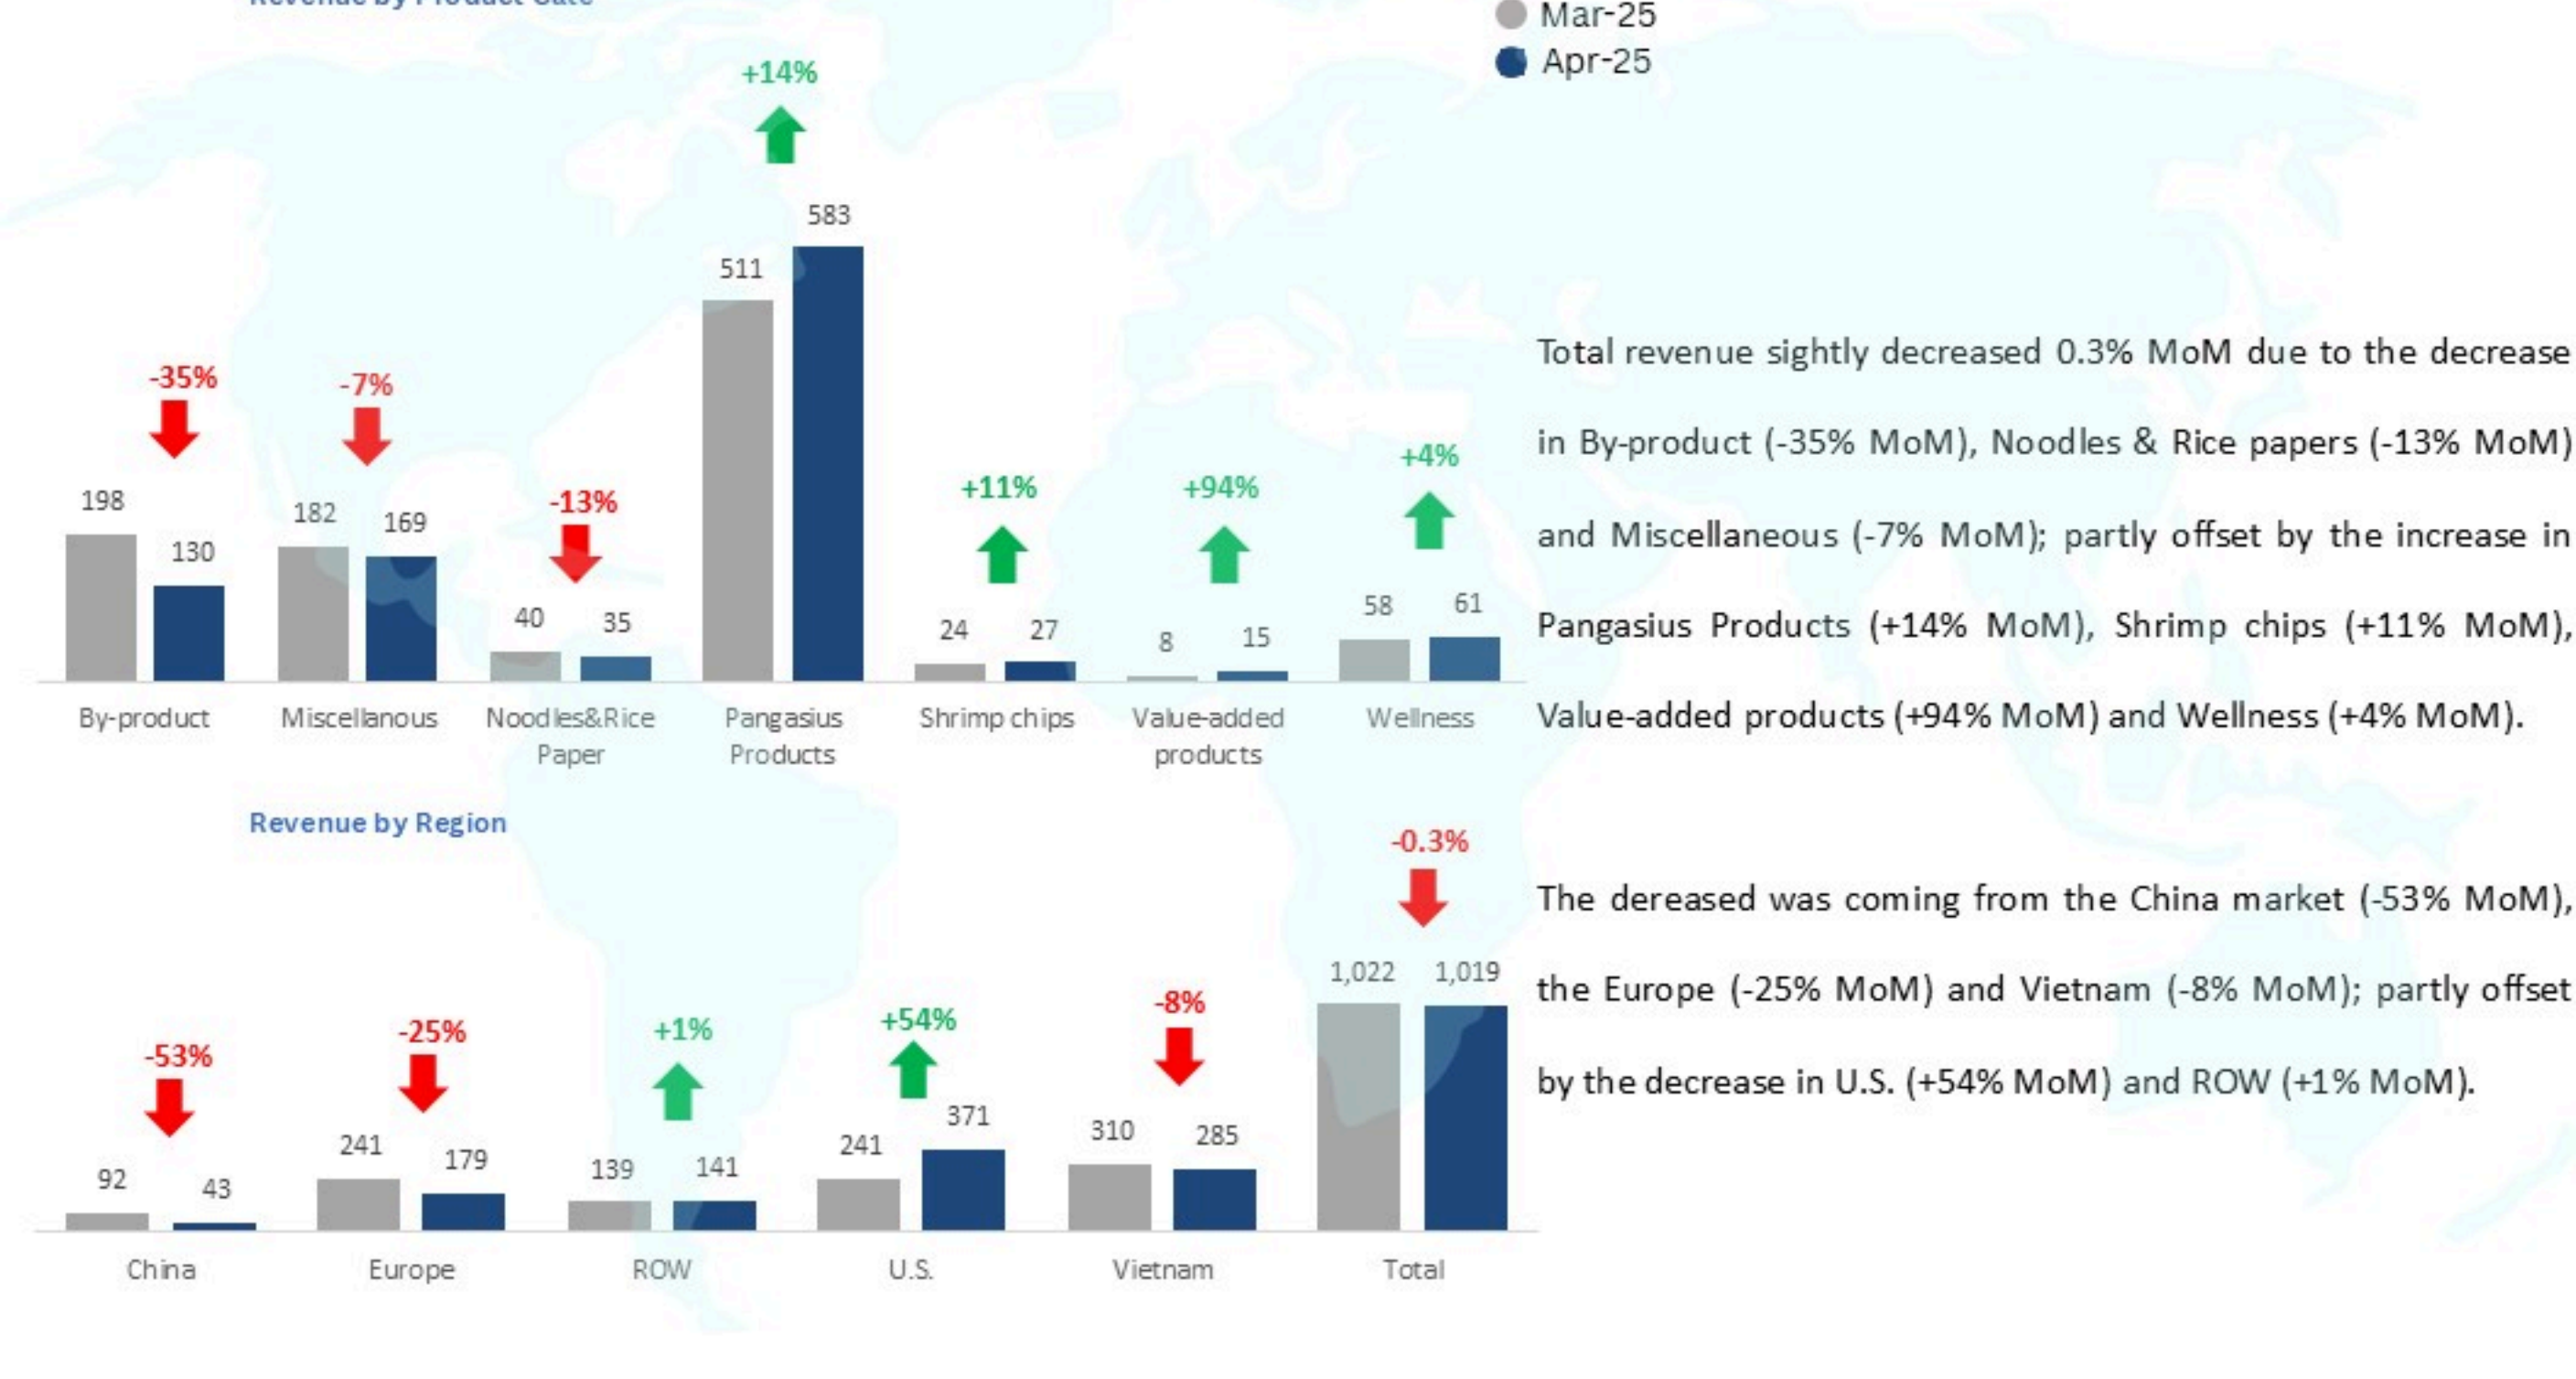

Fish oil production also recorded a 71% increase, once again led by Peru, while the Nordic countries were the only exception, experiencing a decline in output. The data was compiled from IFCO members across 13 countries and territories, representing about 40% of global fishmeal production and 50% of global fish oil production.

... From May 12 to 14, IFCO will hold its annual conference in Madrid (Spain), bringing together scientists and industry experts to discuss emerging trends in the field of feed ingredients and the growing importance of marine-based raw materials. Topics will include fish oil, fishmeal, insect-based ingredients, omega-3, as well as precision nutrition and industry certification..."
